Connections: a Journal of the National School Reform Faculty

Institutional Partnerships

The National School Reform Faculty (NSRF) is an affiliate of Phi Delta Kappa which was created in 1993 to promote an active and vigorous school reform movement in the United States. The NSRF is a network of educators who are committed to improving schools and educating the nation’s children. The NSRF is supported by a variety of organizations, including universities, districts, and state and national associations.

University of Arizona campus, which has helped keep down the cost of our institutes. In exchange for SAWP’s support and in an effort to strengthen the connection between Writing Project work and CFW work, we have set aside one free slot in each New Coaches’ Institute for someone nominated by the SAWP Board of Directors.

The collaboration with SAWP and our NSRF Center of Activity is growing deeper, as SAWP’s relatively new Teacher Research Institute develops into a full-fledged program. In the next few years, districts interested in starting collaborative teacher research groups in their schools will send teacher leaders to the SAWP Teacher Research Institute and the New Coaches’ Institute. Participants will delve deeply into the field of teacher research through the year long program and then will learn about facilitating collaborative learning communities through the New Coaches’ Institute.
